

Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples, topping-off celebration

by John Yellig

April 29, 2025

Ben Wilson. Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Brian Stock and Ben Wilson. Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Dorothy Gora, John Rebimbas and Marcia Erpenbeck. Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Marc Michaels interior design team. Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

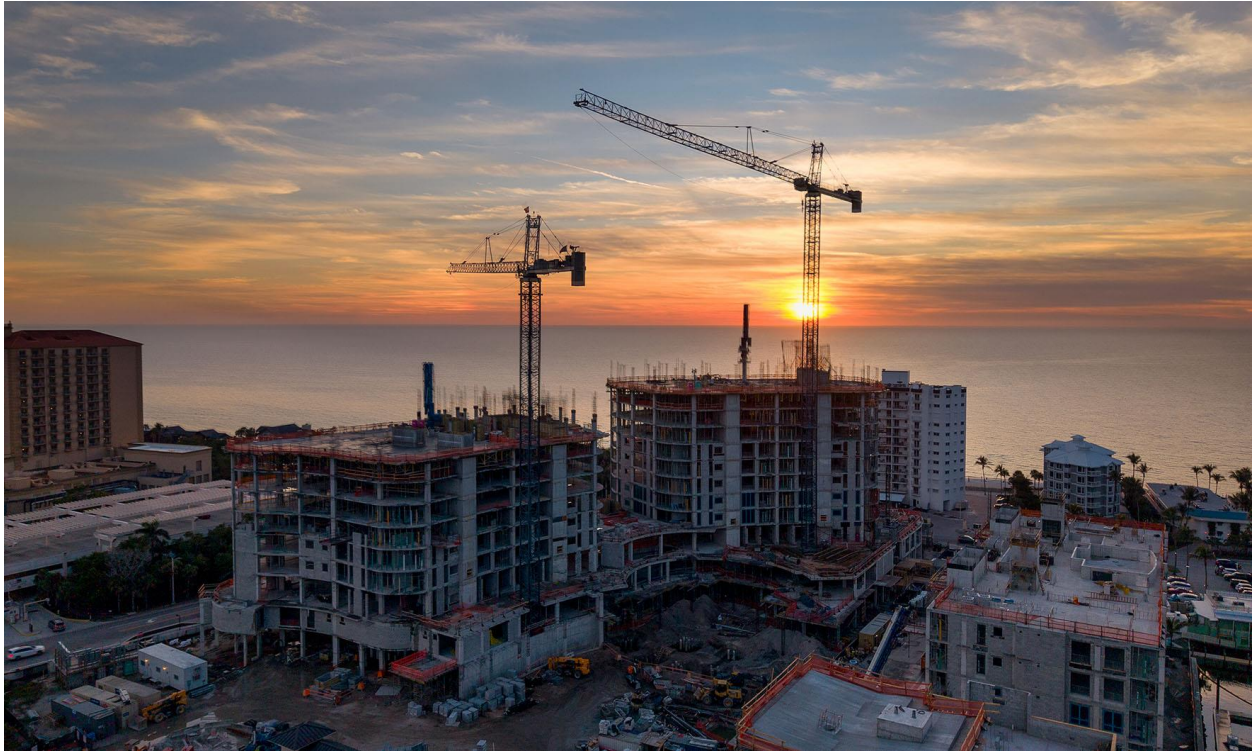

Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

Courtesy of The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples.

STOCK Residences recently held a topping-off celebration at The Ritz-Carlton Residences, Naples, the first Naples community to carry the Ritz-Carlton brand.

The two tallest buildings of the five-building development, the Tower Residences, reached their full height of 12 stories each. The development's general contractor, Suffolk, participated in the event, alongside the design teams behind the project, which include Curts Gaines Hall Jones Architects, interior designer Cristian Pinedo of SUSURRUS, landscape architect Booth Design Group and Marc-Michaels Interior Design.

“This topping-off ceremony is a triumph for our team and a win for the Naples community, now closer to debuting its first-ever branded residences under The Ritz-Carlton brand,” said Brian Stock, CEO of STOCK Development.

The topping-off of the Tower Residences follows the completion of vertical construction of the Bay Residences, a pair of mid-rise buildings within the six-acre enclave. With the external structures these four main buildings complete, the project is on track to receive its temporary certificate of occupancy by early 2026, with move-ins to follow.

About: South Florida Agent magazine is South Florida's leading source of local news and information for the well-informed residential real estate professional.

UVPM: 9,810

Link: <https://southfloridaagentmagazine.com/slideshows/ritz-carlton-residences-naples-topping-off-celebration/>